

Rescue strategies for the Hypercarbia and Hypoxemia

The management of patients with severe respiratory failure is a distinct challenge. There are a variety of technologies, therapeutics and techniques that can help manage patients at the extremes of physiology which will be discussed in this presentation.